Another testimonial for the Red Cross is carried in an interesting letter from Private Ernest D. Hogge, who is in Europe with the signal corps. Private Hogge is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Grover Hogge of Cranston.

Dear Folks: There is lots I wish I could write but I cannot. I have seen many things of interest since I left the States. In an permitted to say that I am now, I must have seen it eight or nine times on the way over. I didn't get sick on the way over but some of the boys did. I have decided I can live without my home.

We have fairly good service here. We have a good place to write letters and we have a radio. We tune in on some of the American programs. Whenever we feel like it they bring part of our fine Americanism with them.

Permit me to put in a word for the Red Cross. They are doing a fine job overseas. I've been there in the places where they are worst needed with coffee and food and gifts of much needed vitamins. Please give them a dollar for me.

Your son, Ernest.

Elwood Allen, son of Mr. and Mrs. Sam Allen of Main street, has continually favored us with some of the most interesting letters that come to the desk. Elwood was among the first from this county to go into the service. Writing under the nom de plume of "Your Unknown Soldier" Elwood's letters have become popular with New readers. Here's one of his latest in which he sets out just who is the Soldier's favorite pin-up girl.

Dear Folks: There has been so much written about the Pin-Up pictures in the armed services that I feel you should know what the boys have used as pin-ups in the different places I have been since coming overseas. Well, to make it short and also true, you see the same things as one would see on the mantles and dressers in private homes back in the States. A lock of hair is the most interesting letters that come to the desk. Elwood was among the first from this county to go into the service. A goal of at least six scout units in the Eagle District (Rowan County) was announced here this week by Allen S. Ashby, Field Executive of the Blue Grass Council.

As the court of honor meeting last week Tenderfoot badges were presented by Fred Caudill to: Roger Atkins, Harold Dean, Coy James, Arthur Myhrer, Bill Sparks, Earl Sparks and Harold White.

Second Class badges, presented by Rev. C. L. Cooper, went to: Bobby Gay, Marvin Hamn and Hendrix Taylor, Jr.

First Class badges were presented by Charles Morris to: Bobby Gay, Johnny Beekman, Bill Frisby, Johnny Holbrook and Billy Ray.

The election was a reversal from that six years ago when the "drys" were victorious by almost a two-to-one margin.

Over 100 new voters, mostly women, were registered at the Clerk's office during the past week. Women were also in predominant numbers at all polling places.

The station crew of the Morehead Naval Training School gave a semi-formal Easter Ball with the Junior Hostesses of Morehead USO as guests of honor. A crowd estimated at from 1,000 to 1,200 persons danced between 8:30 p. m. to 1 a. m. to the music of Paul Hand's orchestra.

Besides the local Junior Hostesses, a group of about one hundred young ladies represented the USO and the Stop Over Station of Lexington. About twenty-seven were present from the Junior AWVS of Ashland. Groups were also present from Mt. Sterling, Olive Hill, Flemingsburg, Owingsville and Winchester.

The college faculty, the civilian faculty of the Naval Training School, and the members of the local USO Council were other invited groups. In addition, each sailor had at his disposal one personal invitation.

Arrangements were supervised in a general way by Lt. L. G. Jones and Chief Steward J. M. Daniels; but the work was actually done by large and active committees, including men. The principal chairmen of this group were as follows: J. J. Burton S. C. General Chairman; C. R. Keenan, S. C. Assistant General Chairman; L. C. Whipple, P. C. Invitation Committee; L. J. West, Y. I. C. Refreshment Committee; and Entertainment Committee; J. A. Pandolfo, S. C. Transportation Committee.

THERE WAS NO BRASS BAND!

But There Has Been Many Celebrations For Heroes Who Did Less Than Corporal VanHook

Twenty year old Corporal H. C. Vanhook, undoubtedly surprised 36 to Morehead last week. He has enjoyed meeting and talking with his many friends. But Corporal Vanhook has a tale to tell—a story that is crowded with more action than many of our best sell. He was cut down with three bullet wounds in the early dawn of a morning not so far past in the Gilbert Islands, he went ashore in an amphibious tank as American soldier and American.

Corporal Vanhook was wounded in the first two landings but he thought he "got one for each of his neighbors."

Asked what his thoughts were, just before the landings were made, young Vanhook readily replied, "my Mother." His mother, whom he had in his thoughts as he faced danger, is Mrs. Stella Vanhook, well-known to all Moreheadians. "She was by my side all the time."

Vanhook said the Jap is a good fighter, and his experience with them indicated they didn't surrender easily. "But," he said, "they're no match for the Americans. They lack the individual initiative that we have. They don't think for themselves. They're really an uncivilized race. They're too dumb to surrender, which makes it all the better, because we don't have to take care of them in prisoner camps later. A bullet is a lot cheaper than feeding a Jap for the rest of the war."

There was no brass band to meet Corporal Vanhook when he came home. But there was his mother.

Harlan Blair To Undergo Operation At Louisville

A major operation is scheduled for former Mayor Harlan Blair, Jr. at the Norton Infirmary in Louisville this week.

Mr. Blair was taken to Louisville last week and the operation was delayed as physicians waited to study his condition for at least a week. He has been in poor health for some time.

Mr. Blair is one of Morehead's civic leaders and was elected several times Mayor, always by landslide victories.

Boys In Rowan Future Farmers To Grow Tobacco

Last Thursday, April 6, Mr. O'Hara, a tobacco specialist, addressed the chapter and gave some valuable information on grading and marketing tobacco. He stressed the value of separating the grades accurately, especially the grades at the top of the stalk. Mr. O'Hara stated that most tobacco strippers paid careful attention to the separation of the leaves near the bottom of the stalk, but that all of these leaves brought a good price, while the leaves at the top of the stalk did not always bring high prices.

This is the Federal system of grading and should enable the boys with tobacco projects to cash in on them with greater profit. After his discussion, Mr. O'Hara showed and explained the samples of the various grades of tobacco.

The following boys of the Rowan County Chapter are growing tobacco this year: Claude Brown, Elwood Burnhardt, Clarence Caudill, Glen Curtis, Fred Hogge, Elmer Kinder and James Robinson.

Judge Parker In Serious Condition From Heart Attack

Judge Parker died this morning Thursday at 3 a. m.

The condition of Rowan County Judge Dan Parker, was described today as "serious" by physicians, although considerable recovery has been shown since early in the week.

Judge Parker was taken to a Lexington hospital Tuesday.

He was stricken with a heart attack Saturday evening, and for a time physicians believed that he would not recover. However he rallied and barring a further attack, his recovery is anticipated.

The attack was unexpected. The Judge having had no previous illness of this type. He apparently was in the best of health when he complained previously of soreness in one leg. He had conducted the affairs of his office Saturday, as usual.

Paul Reynolds Gets Silver Wings In Texas

Completing an intensive training course as a bombardier-navigator, Paul Reynolds, Jr., of Morehead, Kentucky, has been awarded his silver bombardier wings at Midland Army Air Field, Midland, Texas.

He is the son of Mrs. James Clay of Morehead.

Already skilled as aerial gunners, the men who win their wings as bombardiers in the Army Air Forces today are real triple-threat members of the deadly aerial combat teams. In their study and practice of dead reckoning navigation, they have learned its application to the problem of bombing enemy targets, how it can aid in making evasive action effective. They have become as familiar with aerial reconnaissance photographs of enemy installations as with the road map of Texas. They have learned camouflage and how to detect it; they have studied the weak points of enemy ships; they have learned to identify enemy aircraft.

In theory and practice, these young men have become letter-perfect in the science of sending loads of destruction hurtling with pinpoint accuracy to predetermined points of enemy territory. They have learned the maintenance as well as the operation of the combined hundreds of practice bombs. Now they are ready for the final phase of their combat training in which they will take their place as key men in the aerial combat teams of the Army Air Forces.

Talks were given on the different phases of the work of the Legion and the Auxiliary. Americanism, Child Welfare and Rehabilitation. Refreshments of punch and waffles were served by Mrs. C. C. Mayhall and her committee.

New Ruling Given By Washington Board

An estimated 300 or more men from Rowan County will be affected by the order issued Headquarters by Selective Service headquarters in Washington deferring all men over 26 years old who are in essential war industries.

This many or more from this county, between the ages of 26 and 28 are in war plants, while others in this age-limit group may be deferred because of occupations in "locally necessary" work.

An idea of what may be the basis of "locally necessary" work may be gleaned from the War Manpower's Ruling that in Louisville, the following groups fall in that category: retail and wholesale food distribution; milk distribution; wholesale grocers, hotels and laundries. This will probably not be the same for Rowan County, but the national Selective Service office has a list of 35 occupations that might fall in that group. The War Manpower Office, probably the one located at Ashland, which serves this district, will set up the "locally necessary" jobs.

From all over the country come reports that 4-F's are swarming at defense plants for jobs, as their cases will be re-considered unless they are employed in a vital industry.

The War Department, in announcing that the army has reached its planned strength of 7,700,000, said that peak was reached in order to speed to help speed the training of young men as they will be ready when needed to replace men falling in battle. Basic training takes three months.

Then came Saturday's order from Draft Director Lewis B. Hershey to postpone all draft procedure for men 26 and older who are in jobs making a contribution to the war.

Hershey said the Army and Navy told him they need young men now, even if it means failure to meet quotas of other registrants.

With this new and urgent emphasis on haste in April, it was obvious that if any substantial number of key men under 26 in vital industries were going to be deferred, selective service must get advice from other government manpower agencies and get it quickly.

Moreover Chairman Paul V. McNutt, who also heads the committee of manpower claimants, an inter-agency group, was reported today to be ready to hand General Hershey a list of 13 activities in which men's deferments are recommended for younger men.

McNutt's list was understood to include coal mining and pre-medical and pre-dental students, activities which the claimant committee had refused to support. But this does not mean a large number of coal miners will be kept out of the draft. McNutt was reported insisting on only a few miners in certain highly productive mines.

AGRICULTURE:

Postwar Policy

Meeting in Chicago with the Republican party's subcommittee on postwar agricultural policy, the nation's outstanding farm leaders outlined their principles for a healthy rural economy.

Speaking for the American Farm Bureau, its president, Edward J. O'Neal, called for a crop adjustment system with mandatory commodity loans and price supports to be administered by a bipartisan board. Discussing aspects of foreign trade, National Grange Master A. S. Gross advocated a two-price system, with the government authorized to buy up surpluses to sell in foreign markets at below domestic prices, with the producer bearing the cost. As president of the National Milk Producers association, John Brandt called for the limitation of only those commodities we cannot produce here.

The enlargement and strengthening of studies and research on farm measures were advocated by James G. Patton, president of the National Farmers Union, while incentive payments to encourage production of vital foods and fibers were urged by Clyde C. Edmonds, vice president of the National Council of Farm Cooperatives.

Crops and Stock

To increase the supply of corn to essential industrial users, the War Food Administration ordered curbing of terminal and export sales of Illinois, Indiana, Iowa, Minnesota and Nebraska to set aside 60 per cent of stocks. Previously, WFA ordered a 35 per cent set aside.

After a steady rise in prices of the $14.75 cents, hog prices took a drop with reports that the government intended to reduce purchases of canned pork and bellies. However, it was recalled that while the government cut purchases during April of last year, it went back into the market heavily in May, staying there in June and July.

In supporting the 1944 potato market, WFA announced it would pay slightly higher prices ranging from $5 to $15 a 100 pounds above last year. From $2.05 to $2.50 per 100 pounds will be paid for early and intermediate crops and $1.85 to $2.25 for late crops.

EUROPE:

Blast Balkans

Teaming with the U. S. Eighth Air Force in Britain, the U. S. 15th Air Force in Italy carried on heavy raids against Hitler's Fortress Europe, assaulting Axis supply lines in the Balkans.

As Allied ground troops sparred with the Germans below the 15th took the campaign in the air hammering at the rail network in Budapest, Hungary, from which lines radiate into Germany, Yugoslavia and Rumania. Aircraft factories to the south of the city and ballbearing plants in Trieste, Austria, also were struck.

The intensity of the Eighth Air Force's campaign against western Europe was reflected in the announcement that 23 heavy bombing missions were completed in March, with an estimated 12,000 war planes participating.

SUPREME COURT:

Negro Vote

In an eight to one decision, the Supreme Court reversed a ruling of 1935 by declaring that Negroes were entitled to vote in Democratic primaries in Texas.

Under a state law, political parties are permitted to determine the qualifications of their members, and the Democrats restricted primaries to whites. In handing down its decision, the Supreme Court said that when activities of any organization affect constitutional processes, then the state must step in to protect the public interest.

Lone dissenter in the decision was Justice Roberts, who said that the court's reversal of its 1935 ruling could only create confusion about the stability of our institutions. The majority asserted that it was the court's privilege to review any previous case in which it might have erred.

U. S. TREASURY:

New Loan Drive

When America's Fifth War Loan drive gets under way June 12, the treasury will seek to raise 6 billion dollars from individuals, or 700 million dollars more than in the Fourth campaign ended last February.

The total goal of the Fifth drive has been set at 16 billion dollars, 2 billion dollars more than the quota for the Fourth, but 730 million dollars less than was actually raised.

Further to the south, U. S. bombers leveled the big Jap air and shipping base of Hollandia in New Guinea, which lies 1,000 miles to the east of the Philippines. In one raid alone, U. S. bombers wrecked Hollandia's three air strips and fired oil and storage installations.

In India, British troops strongly resisted Jap efforts to cut their communication lines on the central front. In the battle of Imphal, the railroad feeding India, Gen. Joseph Stilwell's U. S. Chinese forces in northern Burma.

RUSSIA:

On Foe's Soil

With the Germans cleared from most of the Ukraine, Russian troops pressed the war in the east to Berlin, crossing over into Rumania on a broad front, as that country's armies actively plied into the fray.

Further to the northwest, Hungarian troops also took up stations at the German's side in the Carpathian Mountains, blocking entrance into Czechoslovakia.

As the Russians carried the war to the enemy on his home grounds for the first time, Finland considered new peace terms reportedly allowing her retention of the naval base of Hangoo, and agreeing to isolation of German troops in the north.

Lend-Lease

U. S. contributions to the Russian war effort were reflected in lend-lease shipments to the Soviets from October, 1941, through February of this year.

During this period, the U. S. sent over 8,900 planes, 3,500 tanks and trucks, 100,000 tons of oil, 26,000 jeeps, 30,000 other military vehicles.

In addition, shipments included 800,000 miles of field telephone, 775,000 field telephones, 7,000,000 pairs of army boots and an unspecified number of locomotives and freight cars.

In all, 2,600,000 tons of food were shipped.

AIRPLANE OUTPUT:

9,118 in Month!

With output per worker rising in famous U. S. mass production technique, the American aircraft industry turned out the record number of 9,118 planes with a weight of 103,400,000 pounds in March.

Exceeding over-all production records by 14 per cent and the heavy bomber quota by 5 per cent, the industry topped the previous record of 8,790 planes set in February, 1944.

Of the 9,118 planes, 86.5 per cent were combat craft of the bomber, fighter and transport class. Because of constant changes made by military technicians to keep abreast of developments in warfare, plane output is not standardized.

Difficult Job Confronts New Democratic Leaders

Chairman Hannegan, Publicist Porter, Must Rebuild Party Machine; Answer GOP Attacks on Bureaucracy.

Bombs one day will cease bursting, ships will sail the seas undisturbed by torpedoes, and cities will no longer be leveled, but politics know no armistice.

The political forces are already laying down their preliminary barages. Two weeks ago, I reported a visit to the headquarters of the Democratic National Committee.

Since then, I have been admitted into the front lines of the Democratic sector and now that I am back safe in limb and, I hope, sound in mind, I shall attempt to report the strategy that Field Marshal Hannegan's cohorts seem to be employing. Democratic Chairman Hannegan is a young fellow, whose name I served in the ranks and worked his way up from war politics to City Chairman for St. Louis when he was part of the national chairmanship.

Just to give you a little of the atmosphere in which the Democratic campaign is being held recently in the Mayflower Hotel (which also houses the Democratic headquarters) just a few blocks down on the street from the residence that the GOP has taken over.

This gathering was the occasion of the retirement of Charles McNutt, chairman of the administration's ad-ministering—has been revealed in congress too. The fight over the OPA is the current campaign.

That was a part remark. We all know Charles McNutt. We all know Porter, who has been around since the New Deal began dealing. And we know the legend of Charles McNutt, who is supposed to be the possessor to play upon as Kreiser's sledge would be. However, when I was up there, I saw that McNutt was a different person.

One thing that makes it hard for the Democrats is that the Republicans are in a position to lift their copywriting.

As one Democrat explained it to me, it is like this: "They have already started to do the administration just what McNutt did to Hoover. They have started to attack the war agencies and the war effort."

"And you know," this wise old veteran added, "what you write and say about how bad the other guy is makes a lot better reading than what you say about how good you think YOU are."

That is one obstacle Chairman Hannegan is up against although the real responsibility falls on the shoulders of McNutt's successor, Paul Porter, and they are broad shoulders with a very good newspaper behind them.

But Hannegan has another, bigger problem. It is a job for a master politician, a job for a man who can make a Democratic machine work in the euphemistically designated in the language of party politics as the "organ."

Broken Machine Hannegan is a young, energetic, open-faced Irishman, and it is a good thing he is young and energetic and open-faced because he has had to start his life of organization at scratch. Anyone at Democratic headquarters will admit that.

Circumstances alter the best laid plans of mice, men and national committees, but that seems to be what they are shunting at along Connecticut avenue today.

Under existing legislation all voters of this United States who are citizens of Illinois when they are admitted military service are eligible for University of Illinois scholarship.

Berlin radio told Latin America that German tourist movement in 1943 was only 8 per cent lower than in years before the war.

One of six State universities, through their Inter-University Council, have asked the director of education of Ohio, Kenneth S. Ray, to call a conference on problems relating to the rehabilitation of returning servicemen.

U. S. civilians supplies of sugar will be 6 per cent less than 1943 consumption, according to WFA.

Political Parade...

As predicted last week, it won't be long until Kentucky politicians will start getting in the opening blows in this year's critical election.

In Eastern Kentucky, Senator Barkley and Congressman Joe Bates, both up for re-election this year, are scheduled to appear Saturday on a Jefferson Day dinner program at Ashland. This dinner supplants the annual district affair formerly held at Morehead, but cancelled for the duration due to transportation difficulties.

The Republicans are not idle. E. Dewey will get the support of the Kentucky delegation. Four years ago Kentucky Republicans supported Ohio's Senator Taft almost to the last ballot, swinging over to Wendell Wilkie only after he had captured the nomination.

Senator "Happy" Chandler will no doubt, be in Kentucky this fall.

Many who generally guess right on the national political situation believe that President Roosevelt may make a comment on his candidacy.

Troop 72 will meet Friday night in the auxiliary gymnasium at seven o'clock. All members are urged to be there.

Troop 76 will hike out to the local scout camp Saturday afternoon if the weather permits.

Troop 78 defeated Troop 72 by the score of 27 to 23 but an overtime period was needed before the winner could be decided. The game was held last Saturday, April 8, at the Breckinridge gymnasium. Bill Black and Bernard Greer each scored 12 points for Troop No. 78 and Billy Vaughan and Johnny Everhart led the scoring for the losers with 9 and 7 points respectively. Bill Black's last minute scoring was the highlight of the game. Troop 72 led at the close of the first half by fine tribute to the Chaplains Corps—that unselfish, whole-souled body of men, who, owning allegiance to the spirit of the working democracy that is in the United States, own a still higher allegiance to that God in whom our nation trusts. They may be Catholic, Protestant or Jew—they may differ in creed—but they are alike in their devotion, and in their faith that to God all things are possible. There is a fine tradition, to which they are adding greater laurels on battle fronts all over the world.

A group of boys from Troop 72 hiked out to the local camp last Saturday. They checked the boys and surveyed some projects for future work. The boys that went were John Will Holbrook, John Everhart, Carl Fair, Kenneth Hamm, George Alfrey, and Billy Vaughan.

A number of boys from here are planning to visit Camp Offutt this year from July 16 to July 22. Camp Offutt is seven miles from Versailles, Kentucky, and is on the Kentucky River. It is the official camp of the Blue Grass Council. Four boys from here visited Camp Offutt last year, but many more are expected to go this year.

The priest who puts the water on dry lips. The rector leading tired men in prayer. The rabbi with the word of Abraham. Each doing quietly his holy share. These are the men who ease the weary path. Who touch the heart and heal the harassed soul. Who keep the vision of the boyhood day. Preserving things learned at a mother's knee.

Anyone with a man at the front—and what family today hasn't a man there?—feels better because of these men. They are the unarmed soldiers, going without weapons, into the battle. They face unafraid because of their faith, the same dangers that confront the men who turn to them for comfort. Never faltering in their duty, they are, at all times, ministers unto men, teachers of the truth, preachers of the word, comforters of the dying.

MORALE
By Rufus T. Strohm
Dean, International Correspondence Schools

THE Armed Forces Institute is an organization created by the army and the navy to give correspondence courses to their men. The Air Corps, the Coast Guard and the Marine Corps have similar "institutes." Most of the students are fitting themselves for post-war jobs, and the officers in charge will tell you that this is the chief reason for the institute's morale.

It would be a startling idea to many old-timers that a chance to study accounting or tool making would make a man better fitted to be a professional soldier, who have uncomprehending troops both in the last war and in this one. The American youngster of today the greatest fighting man the world has ever seen. And that youngster's officers believe that study builds his morale. The Merriam Webster says morale means "condition as to confidence or by dependent on such moral or factors as real spirit, hope, confidence, etc." If a man develops an interest, he has zeal. If he feels he is going somewhere, he has spirit. If he has the means of progress in his hands, he has hope. If he has "know-how," he has confidence. All these things he gains from study.

A New York Herald Tribune dispatch from London reports that an officer who was in the African and Sicilian campaigns said: "We found that morale had direct bearing on combat morale, and you would be surprised to know how eagerly a considerable proportion of the men wanted to go to school."

On the home front, as well as on the battle front, there are many who worry about a post-war job. There are others who do something about it, and they are the ones who build morale. Those who use a part of their spare time for study not only assure their own future but also deliver a blow to the enemy. In the matter of morale, everyone helps or hinders. The army and navy have discovered that those who study are among those who help.

Where the PULPWOOD SHORTAGE hits the farmer

Over 1/4 of all pulpwood is used in packaging farm products

THE FARMERS of this country responded patriotically to the appeal for more pulpwood. They cut wood because their country needed it. Few of them stopped to think that their own business of food production was threatened by the pulpwood shortage.

Already there have been cases where packing plants were unable to accept perishables because they could not get packing materials; and the distribution of food may be seriously upset this year unless the pulpwood shortage can be overcome.

So the farmer who cuts pulpwood is not only helping his country meet a serious wartime shortage; he is also adding to his income, improving his draft deferment status, and helping to provide for the packaging and distribution of his own farm products. Cut your pulpwood now!

publicity of the pine-up girl under contract to some well known theatrical company.

Saturday inspection is unusual in a theatre of field operation and when one does come off, the family pictures are put away carefully and kept there until the morning peek is over. This is not always true of the so-called pine-up girls for I doubt if there was ever an inspection that did not see at least a dozen where hundreds of men are quartered and the remarks made about them are purely animal.

Wherever you go and one does go places overseas you always get the true pictures of Mom, Dad and the family which show the family resemblance to the service-man. But the girl friend is a horse of another color. Fact is, I know there could not be that many pretty girls back home and the camera has been lying for the benefit of all. First the girl is pleased to be photographed the way she wants to look, second

Johnny sees her the way he now thinks she looks, and third the picture something to show the boys with pride and pleasing to everyone concerned. Pictures of kids especially those that have been born since the boys went overseas get the biggest play for daily affection. Men take the pictures and just start talking to and about them and I have yet to hear a complaint from other fellows when someone raves over the picture of his kid that he has never seen. News of the real pine-up pictures never get in the newspapers because those so close so close to the hearts of the persons overseas have little or no publicity value. Your unknown soldier

And from the other side of World, Sgt. Murvel J. Hall, son of Mr. and Mrs. Bethel G. Hall, writes a new letter. In last week's paper, through error, part of this letter was omitted. It is printed in full as follows:

Dear Dad: I could write a lot about the War from down here, but it would be old news by the time you got it and the fronts are changing so fast that they would be re-shaped by then.

Dad, you said I might find one of the Fugate boys over here when I was in Australia. But, Australia is a mighty big island or continent. However the people here prefer that you think of it as a small continent, not a large one. I am gaining more knowledge than if I had gone to school all my life. But to study America is more interesting than all the rest of the world. I thought I understood American people but I am learning new things every day. Maybe it's because I'm now on the outside looking in. Some of those political debates we hear from America on the radio seem to have no bearing on the task at hand. I wonder if some of those people realize there is a War to be won and that everything else should take a back seat to this life and death struggle.

Japan picks up a few points and they use it in their propaganda broadcasts. Maybe a few of the boys should slip their lips. Those strikes are discouraging to the boys. But, really I don't have the complete story about them and don't want to be too critical of either side.

The loneliness and burden of the same type of life day after day gets on our nerves most. Then if mail is not too good, we burden ourselves by worrying about our loved ones back home. That is why we can't understand why labor and capital are battling each other back home when what we need is for everybody to pull together.

Never fear for one moment and stop that needless worry your eldest son is still well and doing just fine, in fact he is in the very best of health under these conditions. Why if fact was known you would find I lost some excess weight I picked up while in Australia. Yep, as a whole I'm doing OK. I was wondering why you hadn't heard from me and it seems that V-mail letter from here takes just a bit longer to reach you than it takes for your V-mail to reach me.

I remember seeing Dad drive some big heavy truck before he and Oleta were married, but I wonder what his reaction would be if he should meet one of those big B-24 bombers coming down the road? "Ha! Ha! No I never thought I'd ever see a plane coming down a road just like an automobile. I was thinking this morning before I got up of all the places to feel the effect of this war is a small town especially those without any factories.

Dad and Mom you'll probably get the idea I'm not satisfied but I have a job to do. I intend to do the best I can. I'm depending on one country that's the greatest in all the world where we have the freedom of speech, freedom of religion, and freedom of press. I have something to fight for. I have my parents, brothers and sisters and a sweet young lady waiting for me on my return. All are worth fighting for.

THE OLD JUDGE SAYS...

"...nat's really a great editorial you just read to us, Judge. Where did you say it appeared?" "In 'The Stars and Stripes'...the newspaper of the U.S. Armed Forces in Europe. Kind of gives us folks back home something to think about, doesn't it, Bill?" "It certainly does, Judge. Particularly the last paragraph. Would you mind reading that again?" "Glad to, Bill. It says, 'We can remember the days of prohibition, when moonshine whiskey made quick fortunes for bootleggers, crooked politicians and dishonest police officials. As a result, we claim we know what we want in the way of liquor legislation and feel those of home should wait until we return before instituting further legislation on liquor control.' " "Out of fairness to our boys over there fighting, Judge, how could we disobey such a wish?"

Can You Picture KENTUCKY without Police?

Today, we all owe a tremendous debt of gratitude to men and women in the uniforms of Uncle Sam's fighting forces. They're on duty today at the four corners of the earth and on all the seven seas—protecting our lives and our way of life.

And we mustn't overlook the splendid job that other men in the uniform of our police forces are doing. Their "zone of operation" may be Kentucky rather than the Pacific, it may be the highway to the next town rather than the airways across Africa, but their job is fundamentally the same—protecting us and ours.

We Kentuckians can indeed be proud of our police organizations—city, county or state. Most of us have few occasions to call upon the service of our police forces—but that in itself is a tribute to their efficiency. They're on the job day and night whether we need them or not.

PUT ANOTHER BOND IN THE BATTLE—BUY IT NOW!

Some of us in the Greyhound organization, because of the nature of our work, have more frequent occasion to co-operate with the police than do many of our fellow citizens of Kentucky. For instance, we are in a position to see clearly how much the police of this community, as well as those of neighboring communities, have contributed to the safety and convenience of bus transportation. The aid these men have given in arranging the most practical and satisfactory routes through towns and cities is typical of their skillful handling of all traffic problems.

Greyhound's most important job, as we see it, is to make sure and good neighbors of all the communities that our buses serve in Kentucky—and we feel that the able cooperation of police forces throughout the State has made it possible for us to do this job with greater efficiency.

From where I sit... by Joe Marsh

Sometimes 13 is a Lucky Number

Dad and Ma Hoakine never did like to brag on their children; but they've raised thirteen of 'em and every one a credit to the community.

"What's the secret of raising so many youngsters so successfully?" I once asked Dad.

"That's just it, Joe," he said. "There isn't any secret. Our family never had any. We always lived open and aboveboard."

"When I smoked, my youngsters saw me smoke; when I went off 'fish', I'd take half a dozen of 'em along. When I'd be in an occasional glass of beer, I'd enjoy it right out in the open. No mysteries in our family.

"I've raised thirteen youngsters of moderation, by example. Learned decency, initiative, thrift. Ma and I never argued 'em; that's about all I know."

Well from where I sit that's the way of a free America—the way of bringing-up 'em that's more our soldier boys and girls the best on earth.
